These Narcissus, with their sweet scented clusters of white, cream and yellow flowers, are used most extensively for winter flowering in the home and the ease with which they can be so readily flowered under home conditions makes them one of the leading subjects for store sales. We suggest that these bulbs be offered for sale in combination with fancy bowls and other containers together with the necessary planting material such as bulb fibre or pearl chips—both of which are offered on back cover.

For florist's use they provide a quick catch crop through the mid-winter months when flowers are usually scarce and expensive.

Paper-White Grandiflora

Our bulbs are grown in Northern Florida in a section that has consistently produced the finest quality stock available in this country.

Daffodils (Hardy Narcissus)

The war has not seriously interfered with the Daffodil supply for there are considerable quantities being grown in this Country, but it has increased the demand due to shortage of other items.

While we have liberal stocks we expect a shortage to prevail before the season ends and therefore urge our customers to send their orders early.

GIANT DARWIN TULIPS

Finest Quality American and English Grown

We are glad to tell our customers that we expect a liberal quantity of Tulips for delivery this fall. In addition to our own large crop we have arranged for importations from England—and these will be loaded on several different vessels to lessen the risk of total loss in transit.

While our list of varieties is not a long one—it is an exceptionally good one—and it contains the most popular varieties in practically every color.

All the bulbs we offer, even in the smaller sizes, are good flowering bulbs. Similar stock was delivered by us to many customers last year and performed very well. For forcing we recommend that the 11 ctm and the 11½ ctm bulbs be used, while for outdoor planting the smaller sizes should be entirely satisfactory.

The available quantities, especially in some varieties, are naturally limited so we urge our customers to send their orders early and to name their second choice in case the desired varieties are no longer available.

Anemones and Ranunculus

Each year sees these two subjects become more prominent and flower shops all over the Country are featuring them regularly throughout their season.

The accepted method for growing them is to soak the bulbs in tepid water for two hours and to plant them in regular bulb flats which should be placed in full light. The temperature control is important and the houses should be kept cool and well ventilated. Also very successfully grown in cold frames where they must be planted in late Fall and covered with dry mulching and sash during winter.

AMARYLLIS – Giant Hybrids

No other bulbous subject offers such an opportunity for the development of increased sales and satisfied customers as these Hybrid Amaryllis. For years we have aided in their development and have started many concerns selling them—and we never get an unfavorable report.

For house culture the ease with which they can be flowered makes them the outstanding subject for this purpose and they also make a beautiful pot plant for florist use. The colors are mixed and range from pure white through the various pink shades to deep red.

CALLA LILIES

Callas are now such an important crop that they should be grown by every florist who has a retail outlet. Aethiopica and Godfrey are ready in September and should be planted as early as possible for best results. Elliottiana, Alba Maculata and Rehmani are available middle of October and can be planted indoors then or through to the early Spring months—depending upon when flowers are wanted. These latter three varieties are now widely used for outdoor Summer flowering and for this purpose should not be planted until danger of frost is over in the Spring.

FALL FLOWERING CROCUS

These bulbs produce their flowers, which resemble huge crocus, early in the Fall and for best results must be planted early. They are also well adapted for flowering in the home where they require very little care or attention. The bulbs are large and each produces a group of flowers. The foliage appears in the early Spring.

BULBOUS IRIS

No other bulbous crop offers such a spread between bulb costs and average flower return as these Iris. They occupy small greenhouse space and are not difficult to force when simple basic cultural rules are followed. And they do well outdoors too—either in frames or in the field. With careful planning a constant crop of flowers can be had from Christmas to June and they invariably bring big prices.

Single Peonies

We are moving a field of Peonies this fall and, wishing to dispose of a small surplus of Single varieties, are offering them at prices much below their true value.

These Single Peonies have several advantages over the Double types. They are more easily grown and usually produce many more flowers. The lightness of the flower heads permits them to stand erect throughout the whole time they are in bloom while most of the heavier Doubles bend over. When cut they have a graceful charm not available in any other flowers. Many are delightfully fragrant.

Here is an opportunity to get a supply of these rare Single types at a bargain price.

FOR BULK BULBS

Flowering Bulbs in themselves convey no impression in the customers' minds as to what they will produce and usually it is essential that the display of each variety be accompanied with an illustration showing exactly what the flower is like. This is very important in the sale of dry bulbs and roots over the counter. We have prepared a standard size 5½ x 7 display card for most of the varieties as shown in this list. These cards not only show the flower in natural color, but give the name of each and provide space for pricing. These cards are sent free with each order.
